

Dr. Joe Luckey

Dr. Joe Luckey is in his third year as the Director of Athletic Academic Services at the University of Memphis. Joe is responsible for the overall supervision of the academic services provided the student-athletes in addition to all academic compliance paperwork. A native of Cincinnati, Joe came to The U of M from Austin Peay State University where he served as an assistant athletics director for academic services since 1996. He also served as supervisor of the Student-Athlete Advisory Council (SAAC), and served as sport administrator for men's golf, women's golf and rifle. Joe received the 1999 Lan Hewlett Award for outstanding performance as an athletic academic advisor. Joe has been a member of the N4A since 1993 and has presented at the national conference on two different occasions. A graduate of the University of Dayton (1991 in Mathematics), Joe earned a master's degree from Indiana University (1992), an educational specialist degree from Austin Peay (1996), and a doctorate of education degree from Tennessee State University (1999). Before joining Austin Peay in 1992, he worked in athletics at Indiana University and the University of Dayton. Joe and his wife Melissa, a former APSU volleyball player and coach, have two sons, Adam (4) and Tyler (1).